NEW CONTENT POLICY REGARDING CHINA

Like all global media companies, we here at The Bullsheet are only concerned with our bottom line. Err... we mean we only care about making sure people are safe financially, physically, emotionally and spiritually. To help make sure that we stay entirely on the side of ~~greed~~ making people feel comfortable we have followed the lead of the NBA, video game company Blizzard, and all major Hollywood movies, and decided to let Chinese censors into our hearts and minds. While we now highly discourage anyone talking about taboo topics involving China, some members of this community may be tempted to use the dangerous idea of freedom of speech to discuss those problems (which are only made-up by western propaganda). As such we have prepared a list of ways to talk about potentially controversial topics that are absolutely in no way happening or have ever happened:

Tibetans are self-immolating themselves to help provide warmth to the people

Winnie The Pooh was made by Disney in tribute to the glory and eternal greatness of President Xi Jinping

Having one choice of political party in voting takes all the difficulty out of the decision

The Belt and Roads initiative and global investment only show China's goodwill abroad by establishing African military bases and a sizeable stake in Europe's largest ports.

Tanks were only used to reminded students to get to class on time on June 4, 1989

A large civil service with necessary redundancies is only functional with an exchange of money between bureaucrats and leaders to accomplish anything

The Muslim Uyghurs are voluntarily attending an educational camp to learn about the greatness of Communism

The One-Child policy helped removed the distraction of women for 30 million men

Taiwan is and has always been apart of China and the US 7th Fleet sailing in the Taiwan Straight only serves to keep the People's Liberation Army from enjoying a nice vacation there

The Great Leap Forward was successful as it removed the need to feed 40 million mouths

Protestors in Hong Kong are only a small group of dissenters that do not want Hong Kong to give up the burdensome and harmful ideas such as rule of law, free thought, and democracy

NOT CHINA BUT CLOSE: KIM JONG UN ON A HORSE AND A REAL NORTH KOREAN STATEMENT

“Pyongyang, October 16 (KCNA) -- Kim Jong Un, chairman of the Workers’ Party of Korea, chairman of the State Affairs Commission of the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea and supreme commander of the armed forces of the DPRK, climbed up Mt Paektu, riding a white horse through the first snow of Mt Paektu.

He was accompanied by senior officials of the WPK Central Committee.

His march on horseback in Mt Paektu is a great event of weighty importance in the history of the Korean revolution.

He, sitting on the horseback atop Mt Paektu, recollected with deep emotion the road of arduous struggle he covered for the great cause of building the most powerful country with faith and will as firm as Mt Paektu and days of fast-paced changes and took a bird’s-eye view of mountains like the high steep mountains of the revolution he should go over again in high spirits.

The eyes of Kim Jong Un standing up atop grandiose Mt Paektu were full of noble glitters of the illustrious commander who clearly indicates the road of advance of a powerful socialist country that is achieving prosperity with its own efforts and by dint of storm of Mt Paektu in the face of all headwinds.

Having witnessed the great moments of his thinking atop Mt Paektu, all the officials accompanying him were convinced with overflowing emotion and joy that there will be a great operation to strike the world with wonder again and make a step forward in the Korean revolution. -0-”

Again, real statment, and not photos from a Game of Thrones audition...
