LOSER LOSER CHICKEN TENDER DISASTER

I, Charlie Schweiger am a junior at Denison University, majoring in surrounding myself with republicans, and I, Nina Cosdon am also a junior, double-majoring in communication and white guilt. If you could not tell, we do not look forward to much in life. However, every Sunday at Curtis dining hall, the weekly holiday, Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner takes place.

Charlie: This Sunday in the John Glenn Int'l Airport, I checked the Curtis menu, knowing damn well that I would see the "winner winner chicken tender" waiting for me. I did. However, at approximately 5:30 pm, I checked again, only to see that my highly anticipated Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner would devolve into Loser Loser Shredded Buffalo Chicken Sandwich Dinner. Returning home from fall break was a rough transition. Going back to communal bathrooms, wearing shower shoes, and just being back on campus was not something I was looking forward to. Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner was my saving grace, and my last grasp of hope I had to sanity at the end of each weekend. I did not return from break for classes, nor extracurricular clubs or activities, nor my friends. I returned to campus for Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner. I am not only hurt, but I am offended, and I feel personally targeted. This act is considered a homophobic and racially-biased hate crime, and it is something that I (we) will not stand for.

Nina: Charlie and I don't have much in common. He's more Gucci, and I'm more H&M. He likes whiney, emo, alternative music, and I live for 70s rock n roll. We are fundamentally different people. But what unites us, the one thing that we have in common, is our mutual love for Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner. We look forward to it every week and accumulate an embarrassing amount of plates between the two of us. Now that Curtis has cancelled Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner, I'm not sure if our friendship can survive. Frankly, we were holding on by a thread, and that thread (a chicken tender) has been cut. It's not like the food at Denison was that great to begin with, but Winner Winner Chicken Tender Dinner was my candle in the window of a cold, dark winter's night. It's already hard enough to find unproblematic chicken (thanks, Chick Fil A), and Denison has increased that struggle tenfold.

If you're going to cancel our chicken, Denison, the absolute LEAST you could do is make chicken tenders a permanent option at the Slayter market grille.

Congratulations Denison, you have left a void in my stomach and my heart.

HUMOR

NOSE RING?

Hi everyone. My name is Anna Mae, and I kinda want a nose ring. I think it could be a dope addition to my face, and everyone else I have seen with nose rings have 9/10 times been a cool person (the 1 person was Sophia Menconi, who is mean to me but couldn't even keep her nose ring anyways so whatever). [EDITOR'S NOTE: I am not mean, and also I do intend to re-pierce my nose after the 6 month waiting period.] I have made a list of pros and cons of me getting a nose ring, and have included them below:

PROS

- Cool
- Makes me look tough (I am 5'2" so I do not often look tough)
- Everyone I went to high school with would realize I'm actually interesting
- So many rings I could put in my nose!!
- It would be cool to touch my face and be like, woah, something is there
- Maybe I wouldn't look 15 anymore
- Firm maybe

CONS

- I!!! Am!!!! Scared!!!! Of needles!!!
- My nose is kinda big :/ May look weird
- I had my ears pierced in middle school and had an allergic reaction
- What if when I go to take it out I keep dropping it down the sink drain, like Sophia Menconi
- WHAT SIDE WOULD I PIERCE
- GOLD OR SILVER??? OR ROSE GOLD???

If you have any firm opinions or advice, my slayter box is 9045. Maybe I should just get a fake piercing? IDK y'all...

MOON (HALL) LANDING CONSPIRACY

Has anyone seen Laurel Kennedy and Stanley Kubrick in the same room? If your answer is no, then that is the right answer. Because the facts of the matter is that Stanley Kubrick himself constructed the new social spaces, or Moon Hall if you will, out of the material left over from the set used to film his moon landing in 1969. Any of you moon landing truthers should know this before attending a Moonies event... you are partying on Stanley's fake moon.
