

bullsheet@denison.edu | denisonbullsheet.com | @DUBullsheet

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before 6:30pm for next day submission via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: James Delivered this morning by: James
vol. LXIII/ no. 65 / December 13, 2019

THE END OF AN ERA

The decade has come to a close and we here at the Bullsheet have had a lot to reflect on. It's been a big year for this long piece of paper: we celebrated our 40th anniversary and held an open house (with a whopping six guests), we just welcomed eight of the finest writers known to man into our dysfunctional little family, and we finally have a computer that won't crash every fifteen minutes during frantic 1 AM editing sessions. We've made new friends (love u bandersnatch <3), gone a surprising amount of time without massive controversy, and produced countless articles that were almost funny. Most of our writers have written something this semester, and they might even write something next year too.

There's a lot to be proud of, but we're not done yet. After countless hours of deliberation, we've decided to change some things moving forward. The 2020-2029 Bullsheets will still be run daily and filled with the same sort of content that you know and love, but there are going to be several differences in the near future of this publication.

1. Managing editor Jax Preyer has been overthrown. The Bullsheet will exist in a state of anarchy until a new hierarchy is established. We expect this lack of leadership to have little to no effect on the way things are run around here.

2. Effective January 20th, 2020, the Bullsheet will stop being printed indefinitely. We will be permanently transferring to the social media platform TikTok (@denisonbullsheet), and all publications will take the form of 6-60 second videos. There's been constant debate over this decision, but we ultimately decided that we need to cater to the short attention spans of our loyal readers. This change will also save paper and give the Chinese government even more oversight over the Bullsheet.

3. All publications on Thursdays will be in Yiddish. Any submissions in other languages will either be postponed until the next day or simply thrown away. You've been warned. Any future applicants to the Bullsheet must either be fluent in Yiddish or be willing to learn.

4. The Bullsheet's printing budget will be used to purchase an actual bull on Craigslist. We are working on annexing the Denisonian's office and converting it into a bull pen because we currently lack the space and they have way too much.

5. We will create and sell our own line of Bullsheet merchandise to make up for a crippling lack of DCGA funding. Laptop stickers and sweatshirts are in the works, and we hope to have our own brand of trail mix available for purchase in Slayter by the beginning of the upcoming Spring semester.

Thank you for continuing to support us. We'll see you all in 2020.

SATIRE (?)

-James Whitney, Rogue Editor

TEN THINGS TO DO INSTEAD OF STUDYING FOR FINALS (BASED ON THINGS I MOST DEFINITELY HAVE NOT DONE)

1. Fall asleep during your last class of the day, knowing full well you have a paper due the next, and wake up at 5:00 pm in Bryant Arts Center very disoriented.

2. Left a final presentation not started until the night before, and not started to work on it until 4:00 am because you were watching Victorious, realized your mistake, and put on another episode.

3. Lose your keys, including your Denison ID, and end up looking for them for twenty minutes, making you late to class (but they're just on your lanyard around your neck the entire time)

Continued on back...

TEN THINGS TO DO INSTEAD OF STUDYING FOR FINALS (BASED ON THINGS I MOST DEFINITELY HAVE NOT DONE) CONT.

4. Choke on a piece of bread in Huffman, survive, and proceed to put more bread in your mouth
5. Procrastinated so hard that you end up painting an entire landscape, complete with mountains, trees, a river, and some red sky that is not similar to your mental state at all
6. Have the Thomas the Tank Engine theme song stuck in your head during student presentations, causing presentations to become infinitely more interesting
7. Go to the gym, have a nice workout, and then fall asleep on the toilet for twenty minutes
8. Do completely normal makeup, including, but not limited to: black eyeshadow (for that 2000's emo look), red lipstick (very smudged), eyeliner dots under one eye (trendy), eyeliner stars under the other (less trendy), attempt to write a word under one eye like Post Malone, fail miserably, and go to the communal floor bathroom in disgrace where there are three other people brushing their teeth
9. Online shop in class, causing your professor to walk around and comment "nice shoes" on the boots you were looking at
10. Text while walking downstairs, completely eat shit, get disoriented, eat a cookie, and be on your way to the library

STUDENT SUBMISSION

-Sam Crane

WHO IS TACO DAN?

With the holiday season coming around I would like to clarify some misconceptions about the legendary figure Taco Dan*. Here at the Bullsheet, It is our job to separate myth from reality. So here are some of the most popular legends of Taco Dan:

Q: I heard that Taco Dan sneaks down my chimney on Taco-mas eve and gives fresh, house made guacamole to the good boys and girls

A: This is true. Please leave a gift of Lemon-Lime soda and Avocado toast for Taco Dan.

Q: Doesn't Taco Dan sell tacos at the Beach every now and then?

A: No, those are his elves, the tacolings. Please treat them nicely, they just looking to spread the holiday taco-cheer.

Q: Doesn't Taco Dan live at the North Pole?

A: No silly, you can't grow avocados at the North Pole. He obviously lives in the town of Avocado, California.

Q: How does he get the fresh guacamole to us on taco-mas eve?

A: Taco Dan is carried aloft by his herd of inferior taco stores, who all bow down and pay allegiance to him.

Q: Isn't Taco Dan just some guy who lives in Granville?

A: How dare you profane the name of this Absolute Legend. This force of good in the world. You dare assume that Taco Dan would stoop so low as to inhabit this mortal coil? You Heathen, you absolute lunatic. Go take your chipotle burrito and pre-packaged guacamole elsewhere. We don't want the likes of you around here.

Q: Is Taco Dan just my dad in a taco costume?

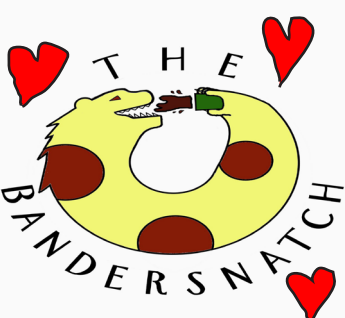

A: There is no Easter Bunny, there is no Tooth Fairy, and there is no Queen of England. This is the real world, and you need to wake up.<sup>1</sup> There is however, Taco Dan. Taco Dan is real.

*The author does not claim to know anything about Taco Dan's. In fact, the author has never visited that fine establishment. Rather, this article references the exploits of Taco Dan, the spirit of Taco-mas. The story, all names, characters, and incidents portrayed in this production are fictitious. No identification with actual persons (living or deceased), places, buildings, and products is intended or should be inferred. No person or entity associated with this Bullsheet article received payment or anything of value, or entered into any agreement, in connection with the depiction of tobacco products. No animals were harmed in the making of this Bullsheet Article.

-William Kelsey, Freshman who's totally probably getting a staff title soon, we promise.

<sup>1</sup> Megamind, directed by Tom McGrath (2010; Glendale, CA: DreamWorks Animation, 2011), DVD.
Please don't sue me DreamWorks, don't stoop to Disney's level. You are better than that, we all know it.

HUMOR

Staff "Ideal Christmas Gift" Box

Jax "forced resignation" Preyer, Former Managing Editor
Isabella "1986 cadillac fleetwood" Puccini, Senior Editor
Sophia "personal sheet deliverer" Menconi, Senior Editor
James "shaving cream" Whitney, Sophomore Editor
Zach "spellcheck" Coreria, Hedd Writer
Jay "kale, ham, and sausage" Huff, Senior Writer
Charlie "TikTok@ fame" Schweiger, Junior Writer
Elizabeth "fat stack o' books" Arterberry, Junior Writer
Katie "protein powder" Kerrigan, Junior Writer
Jack "kermit the frog body pillow" May, Sophomore Writer

