CUOMO VS. WESTERN STATES VS. THE REST

Last Tuesday, Governor of New York, Andrew “Nipple Piercings” Cuomo announced a seven-state compact to coordinate the reopening of their interconnected economies. On the same day, the Governor of California, Gavin “Future Presidential Nominee” Newsom announced the creation fo the Western States Pact along with Oregon and Washington to coordinate their economic reopening. I am sure other states will form similar packs. I can see Ohio forming one with other Midwest states and Iowa and South Dakota forming a pact of stupidity in their refusal to issues state at home orders. Trump, of course, has despotically asserted that he decided when to reopen the economy not the states setting up a showdown. Now, even with a looming constitutional crisis that could rip the country apart, it is hearting to see states come together. It is like they are working to form a more perfected federation between states to make justice, safeguard tranquility, have a mutual defense, and promote the welfare of everyone to keep our liberty for us and future generations. Someone should really write that down into a constitution or something.

Anyways, before our country collapses, it may be a fun idea to look at the benefits and drawbacks each pact has compared to the rest of the country:

Questions	Cuomo’s Pact	Western States Pact	The Forty Remaining States
1) Most Abundant Resource?	Cuomo Family Siblings	A shit ton of weed	Expendable low class workers
2) Greatest Health Risk	The Port Authority Bus Terminal.	Anti-Vaxers and frat house floors at Chico State	1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
3) Greatest Non-Health Risk	New Jersey is usually gearing to fight someone	Some slippy tectonic plates	See above
4) Political Views	Biden Democrats	Bernie-esque Progressivism	Find Out In November
5) Biggest Draw Back	Remebering that there are other parts of the country	Dealing with Eastern time	You still have to deal with Florida
6) On Campus Equivalent	The people Institutional Advancement Call	CS major, ENVS minor that lives at the Homestead	Shorney but with a few studious students
7) Greatest Contribution To America	American Independence, Statue of Liberty and being the place that recent college grads want to move to.	Hollywood, the Wild West forming the American identity and being a place for midwesterners to move to.	A few good liberal arts colleges, millions of americans and a reminder that we are in this together. E Pluribus Unum

A SPORTS ARTICLE? SIKE IT’S ABOUT SPORTS VIDEO GAMES

During this quarantine and with zero sports, I have gone back to playing sports video games because that’s the closest thing I can get to sports. I have been playing the backyard baseball franchise lately and so I am here to give you my best starting 9 that would give you a perfect season, if that is the mode you are playing. I will be using the 2003 version of the game, I know that puts a generational gap between us but, I will be using the pros that are in the game for the lineup. So, here is my lineup for my team:

1. Pete Wheeler 2nd base
 -The speed here is crazy and dang his contact is insane

Continues on back...

FROM FRONT

2. Ken Griffey Jr. center field
 - If you know you know but, this may be the generation gap but, this is literally the best baseball player ever.
3. Pablo Sanchez left field
 - The best player in all of these games if you know these games, hope you do, because he is the best overall player in these games.
4. Achmad Khan right field
 - He drives in runs like crazy and he is pretty nimble for a fielder.
5. Mikey Thomas 1st base
 - He is sooooo slow and can't really field. But, boy his power through the roof in the 20 or so game season this kid would clobber at least 15.
6. Kesha Philips 3rd Base
 - She is super tall but man she can really run, and her bat is crazy can really hit she isn't high in the order but she will rack up the rbis.
7. Nomar Garciaparra short stop
 - This is an mlb legend if you don't know search up Red Sox legends, I am bias because he is my favorite player ever.
8. Mike Piazza catcher
 - This is another mlb player, he is in the hall of fame, his fielding needs work but he is a star hitter and is very good at hitting.
9. Ernie Steele pitcher
 - Worst hitter by farrrrrr..... but man he can pitch and that really is all he can do.

- Josh Poe, Newbie
