GRANVILLE CRAIGSLIST FIND OF THE WEEK

WOODEN SWAN

75 DOLLARS! What a steal! Take him home!

Just look at this dude. Dazzling. Breathtaking. A marvel of woodworking and raw artistic talent. This bad boy is a perfect dorm centerpiece and is in perfect shape except for the fact that his neck may or may have not popped off and had to be glued back on. The current owner is moving to a new home and has to give him away, now's YOUR chance to swoop in and own one of the finest lightly used wooden swans in all of Granville. Apparently he gets dressed up in flowers on Christmas and looks pretty damn slick. He's a total of 31 inches by 25 inches of absolute PERFECTION.

WILLY K AND THE THISTLES

I want this plant (Spear Thistle, Cirsium vulgare) It has eluded my capture so far, but its time is about up (it stops blooming in late august). It can hide, but it certainly can't run. Any information leading to its arrest will be much appreciated. I would offer a reward but I'm very stingy with my money. I mean I guess I could offer a reward. Ok. I will buy whoever finds the most Spear Thistles one thing in Slayter.

Why do I want this plant?
Apparently it is edible!

If I dry the florets I can use them to create rennet, one of the main cultures used in cheesemaking! Then I just need to procure some milk and maybe I could make cheese (idk the entirety of my cheesemaking experience comes from the one time I went on a field trip to a dairy farm cheese factory? in third grade).

If you find Spear Thistles either contact me, or bring them to Preston (leave them outside of the main entrance (not on the path tho, that's rude)). Be careful when harvesting them as they are prickly. Also, they are an introduced species in Licking county, so don't feel all that bad about terminating their meagre existence. Toodles.

WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE

(BUT PREFERABLY STILL ALIVE)

(PLANT.)
