FIGHT YOUR FRIENDS

Are you and your friends running out of things to talk about? Are you and your friends bored with your usual conversations or hang out activities. Well, if you want to add some spice into your friend group, have each person make a chart like this. While this is similar to a left-right political spectrum graph, this one can cause even more controversy in friend groups.

I filled in this graph with photos of my friends and then sent it to them and let me just say... WOW... it really got the conversation going. Now although this is a fun activity, I must give a warning that it could anger some of your friends, but that is okay, they are probably just mad that you could beat them up. Everyone is subject to their own opinions on who they could fight and who they want to fight. ENJOY! Happy charting and happy fighting!
