PFIZER OR MODERNA?

With the FDA having approved both Pfizer and Moderna mRNA vaccines a couple months ago, people around the United States have started getting one or both doses of these vaccines. Even though I (and likely many others, especially at a neoliberal institution like D*nison,) have written numerous papers about how unethical corporations and big pharma companies are, all of my resentment towards the free market has dissipated as they provide light at the end of the dark, grim tunnel that is millions of people that have died around the world from the coronavirus. Keep in mind that if you have gotten vaccinated, or have plans in the to do so, that people around the world continue to die because wealthy countries have bought out supply for the vaccines, though we don't deserve it because we never really controlled the virus outbreak. With your privilege in mind, here is a quiz to decide if you are more like the Pfizer vaccine, or the Moderna vaccine! Keep track of your answers, and chin up, princess! Your tiara is falling!

1) If you had to contextualize your place in colonial binaries, would you consider yourself to be more masculine or feminine?

- A) Yes
- B) No (No shame, I am also too sexy to

11) Big boobs?

- A) Yes
- B) No

RESULTS BELOW...

MOSTLY A: If you got mostly A, you are the Pfizer vaccine! You are quick-witted and straight to the point, for better or for worse. You are an efficient worker, and you consider yourself to be “unique,” or “original.” You’re kind of like the older sibling- you did things first, but once the younger came, the attention shifted, though your parents probably still like you more. You’re high maintenance and must be stored at obnoxiously low temperatures (you might be a little bit classist as well), and you think that you were the first to do it (SA: you weren’t, you’re just greedy and your request for FDA approval was submitted first).

MOSTLY B: If you got mostly B, you are the Moderna vaccine! You take your time to get ready (28 days to be exact), but you always get the job done precisely. You’re more lax and you know how to party, but you do the job and you do it well. You are more of a “humanitarian,” because you are the one that goes to smaller towns without the capacity to hold such a high-maintenance development. Your side effects are a little bit more intense than Pfizer, but if you can’t take the heat, stop being a bitch and take it anyway, while hoping that the vaccine can be distributed to countries that aren’t as grossly capitalist as the United States is, ASAP. Regardless of which vaccine you are, count your blessings, you disgusting free-market pig.

WE'RE "HIRING"

Do you think you're funny but you're not? Join the Sheet and become more of a recluse than you already are! Give us your best, and in exchange, we'll whore our sexiest staff members out to you (James and Betsy. Maybe Ellie and Charlie, they're picky.) We desperately need decent writers who can evoke a small chuckle or two from students. Please. Half of the staff doesn't write and rarely do we get submissions. Take some pity on our staff in this tough times.

Any who, benefits of joining include an annual staff meeting, an increase in popularity, and maybe some Slayter food. Want to find out how many drugs you can do in an academic building at once? Do you crave friendships that exist on GroupMe and GroupMe alone? If any of this sounds enticing please email us at bullsheet@denison.edu and/or schwei\_c1@denison.edu
