GRANVILLE CRAIGSLIST FINDS OF THE WEEK

“It’s a Boy” Plywood Sign (ONLY 45 DOLLARS!)

This is the conversation starter that your dorm/apartment/greasy six man’s common room NEEDS. It’s made from plywood, about five feet tall, and waterproof for some reason. If you actually get pregnant and end up not having a boy then the “IT’S A BOY” plaque at the top can easily be reversed. Or you can just change the thing to say whatever you want. The world’s your oyster for less than 50 bucks. This would also be pretty good fraternity house window decor, or maybe a parting gift for a professor you really liked. I don’t know.

FORD 602 CORN PICKER

($1500, tractor NOT included)

Yeah so this thing is a corn picker meant for picking corn. If you pick corn but can’t pick corn fast enough by your own and have been trying to pick a corn picker for picking corn I’d recommend picking up this corn picker so that the next time you’re picking corn you can just use the corn picker so you don’t spend as much time picking corn. This corn picker is pretty big so if you decide to pick up the picker pick something bigger than a pick-up.

PANASONIC TELEPHONE SET

($60, phone plan not included)

you can call people

phones ring

answering machine takes messages

four phones so you and three friends can take calls at the same time

yay

2021 DORM NORMS

It is that time of the year again! The time where the dreams of Freshman are crushed when they find out they won't be getting that 6-man in Huff after all and instead settle for three doubles next to each other in Crawford. The time where your friends make housing plans without you and drop the bomb on you after it's already been finalized. Or, for the especially lucky few, the time where you secure that Silverstein apartment with the view over the IM's people only see in movies. Whatever basket you fall in, it does not hurt to know some information about each of the lovely dormitories Denison has on campus. Without further ado, we present The Report's official dorm norm guide to Denison's residence halls.

Beaver- Accompanying you on the 2 hour stint in a 6 man you call a party is a thick layer of grease coated on all of the walls and railings in the building-- just don't touch your eyes.

Shorney- With enough space to fit 250 people, Horney Shorney is one of Denison's most prized communities. From the trash bags lining up in the hallways to the revocation of paper towel trash bins, Shorney hall lives up to the hype in every way. On a hot day, make sure to catch a refreshing splash from the leak on the West staircase that seems like more of a flood than a leak.

Smith- Whether it's the garbage like aroma encompassing the entire first floor or the damage to the common room that prompted Campus Safety to lock the study space up, there is no denying Smith residents keep it classy. Just look out for the Men's Lacrosse team hurling exit signs down the hallways.

Stone and King- Located on the sunny and beautiful South campus, many rooms become open in these dorms during the Fall semester after some of its residents become paralyzed from falls after attempting the hike up the hill for class. Beautiful interiors though.

Shep- Named after the all women's college absorbed by Denison, this dorm screams gender equality. Rumor has it, winners of sexual respect trivia are forced to room in this dorm.

Curtis- Enjoy the luxury of wood floors? Appreciate timeless architecture? Look no further than this soon-to-be Sophomore dormitory, as long as you don't mind being surrounded by freshman and Curtis cafeteria pizza.

Huff- Completely chill vibes. What's more special than a clock tower on the top of your dorm and a dining hall beneath your dorm. Just do not expect the printer or tech center to ever be up and running.

Beta, Morrow and Kappa Sig- These are extremely sad people. Not only are they freshman, but they are Freshman in quiet housing isolated from the other 90% of their class.

Upper and Lower Elm- What even is the difference between these two? All you need to know is senior apartments with a ton of stairs. Kinda lowkey, kinda cute.

Good Hall- Is a bad hall. It's all in the irony.
