DCGA BUDGET DEEP DIVE

According to Denison's website, there are over 160 on-campus clubs that are run by students. The student organizations page proudly displays various cross-cultural communities, club sports, and every media organization except for the Bullsheet (understandably). I'm of the personal opinion that student-run organizations are one of the most important aspects of a fully residential campus, and I love the fact that each club has its own cultures and traditions that can date back several decades. The biggest drawback of all of these clubs is that we run them and are in charge of asking for DCGA to pay for (sometimes ridiculous) stuff. We all pay a $530 activity fee (basically just fraternity dues that CLIC eats) which get split among student orgs in ways that never seem to make any sense. Most of the budget requests from last year were pretty boring and a lot of approved expenses never ended up going through due to a surprise pandemic, but there's a few gems in here that are worth mentioning:

Alpha Epsilon Delta

AED got 300 dollars to buy 20 dead spiny dogfish for dissection. This made up the entirety of their approved budget.

Denison Libertarians

The Denison Libertarians wanted 100 dollars for a custom flag to hang in their "president's quarters" (some dude's dorm). They also asked for $2,400 dollars worth of ammunition, five copies of 1984 by George Orwell, and a subscription to Reason Magazine. Their entire budget request was denied due to the fact that they never showed up to the required meetings.

Denisonians for Planned Parenthood

Denisonians for Planned Parenthood were allocated $3,400 to purchase a vending machine for Plan B that could be accessed by students at any time. This was already a great idea to begin with, and the fact that it was supposed to be installed on the same floor as the Nest so you could purchase contraceptives while you waited for your chicken wings made it even better.

The Denison Film Society

These guys pay an average of $1,000 dollars per film screening on the 4th floor of Slayter, which is kind of shocking.

DUWOP

24 bowties: approved.

Denison Chemical Society

Was expecting some Walter White sort of stuff in this one but the most noteworthy thing was that they got a few bucks to make colored elephant toothpaste and also blow up some pumpkins with ~~SCIENCE~~. Nice.

Denison Culinary Club

DCGA only approves itemized budgets, not lump sums. This means that some poor soul had to get price estimates for each ingredient that the Culinary Club asked for; five meals worth of ingredients ended up being about 250 lines on an excel spreadsheet. I couldn't even read the whole thing, I can't imagine how upset someone would've been having to write all that.

HERE'S WHO GOT THE MOST APPROVED FUNDING

University Programming Council (22 members): $216,903.97

Black Student Union (160 Members): $67,373.78

College Republicans (30 members): $40,641.27

Leadership Fellows (??? members): $37,400.32

Denison Film Society (21 members): $29,430.40

*The D*nisonian (21 members): $19,906.23*

Denison Democrats (50 members): $18,104.00

The Bandersnatch (22 members): $13,766.94

La Fuerza (250+ members): $11,584.42

Hillel (25-50 members): $9,778.85

Denisonians for Planned Parenthood (200 members): $8,685.57

The Doobie (57 members): $8,113.15

African Student Association (50 members): $7,500.92

Multicultural Greek Council (20+ members): $7,124.44

Editor's note: This information all came from CLIC's page under MyDenison, not all money allocated may have been used and some funds may have been revoked. I don't really know. DCA also has multiple massive budgets that I didn't include because they confuse the hell out of me.

RATING RECENT HEALTH INSPECTIONS OF DENISON DINING!

(Thank you, Licking County Health Department... now please add more vaccine appointments)

Bandersnatch: 10/10 no issues because you're always CLOSED :/
 - If open probably -5/10
 - Everyone dies of hunger before their food is ready

Mitchell D-Fuse: 10/10 (does anyone even go there?)

Silverstein/Slivy's: (7/10)

-Need to label the self-serve Reeses Cups containers for us peanut-allergic folks :)

The Nest: 9/10

-Employees pls stop hanging your jackets in the kitchen

-Single-serve takeout containers on floor (for flavor)

-Raw eggs stored above fresh produce and chemicals stored above packaged food :(

Curtis: 6/10

- Raw eggs can't be stored above cabbage :(
 -Food build-up around tomato slicer and dirty utensils :(
 -Non-commercial-grade mixer in baking room :( the chocolate chip cookies slap tho

Dishonorable mention: Taco Dan's (-50/10)

-Some fucking PEST DROPPINGS in shelf under food preparation counter, cabinets, on floor near ovens, and on white shelves in the kitchen

Huffman: 4/10 (don't do us like this huff!)

- Salsa and tomatoes not served at proper temperature :(
 -Raw chicken can't be stored above raw pork (a repeat violation)
 - stop fucking with the raw meat hierarchy, huff. stay in your lane :(

-"box of half-eaten employee food stored on prep counter of back kitchen"

-No soap, no paper towels for employee handwashing sinks
 -why would you want to eat here anyways... they're super racist and the food is bad

Slayter: -2/10 you're definitely going to kill us all

-Plastic fragments in the rice container :( had to throw away an entire box of rice!
 -Coffee ice scoop was gross, and utensils stored in hand washing sink :( bad vibes
 - Face shield, cell phone, and jacket stored directly on single-serve takeout containers (omg this is a war crime)

-support another restaurant that doesn't donate to anti-abortion charities! (hint: river road and village coffee donate to anti-abortion charities too! sadly)

HEAR ME OUT

So, there's a trend going around on Tik Tok, and since we're all Zoomers here, y'all have probably heard of it. It's called a Dream/Nightmare Socratic Seminar. Maybe some people don't know what that is. I'll break it down:

Well firstly, let me start by saying y'all didn't miss much cuz it was high school and most of us didn't peak then. Ok now I'll explain:

A Socratic Seminar is usually a discussion based on a text or idea that students participate in. A debate with more flavor because it's not always opposing arguments.

What would be better than creating a Socratic Seminar getting the Denny fam involved? Not much. I decided to make my own with some of the vibrant student body on campus.

The Topic is: Should More Security Cameras Be Installed In Campus Spaces?

I would obviously be moderating along with President Weinberg and a council of deer on campus.

All Cinema Majors

DCGA

-The Paws and Relax Therapy Dogs

The Denison Virgins

Lambda Chi

All of Shorney

Any self-proclaimed Weebs

Humanities Tas

-Psych Majors who agree with Sigmund Freud

The Homestead

Mindfulness Club

Denison Democrats

Denison Libertarians

Tri Delta

This would be a seminar for the books. The law books, of course. Did I say seminar? I meant shitshow. I have a chart in my dorm predicting the order in which events would occur. Everything from shouting matches to throwing chairs but I won't say too much. What I will say is there will be a playlist routinely alternating from hyper pop to country to create a background of chaos for the conversation and everyone has to use a bell to signal when they want to speak. There's nothing as unifying as bringing a diverse array of Denisonians together to discuss whether they feel their life would be invaded by cameras or not. I'm convinced it would be a great infodump and very telling of the campus community. Hear me out.
