

bullsheet@denison.edu | denisonbullsheet.com | @DUBullsheets

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, is hanging on for dear life, and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day submission via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: James Delivered this morning by: Emma
vol. LXVII/ no. 117/April 14th, 2021

SPONSORED CONTENT

HOW TO CATCH A WILD ANIMAL WITH YOUR BARE HANDS

What Can Happen to Your Body If You Start Eating Honey Before Bed

FoodMz

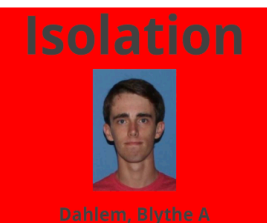

The Worst Cars According To Mechanics

House Coast

Surprising, these foods help your eyesight

Elcondicional.com

Air Ambulance Services Options Might Surprise You!

Air Ambulance Services | Search Ads

30 Images of Young Adam Weinberg

TheDancingCucumber

10 Things That Can Boost Your Interior Design Skills In 2021

scdecorum

Do youuuuu know how to catch a wild animal with your bare haaaaaands? Well it's simple! The first step is ooooobviously the most important step! Of these twelve steps you must start with the first step, ooooobviously since it's the first step!!! In order to understand what this first step is, you need to know that the first step always comes first.

On a completely unrelated note, some types of dogs can find mushrooms in the wild. These dogs are known as truffle dogs. Now I know what you may be thinking. Truffle? Isn't that a type of chocolate? Well you're right! But it's also a type of mushroom. Now I know what you also might be thinking. Don't they have truffle pigs? Well you're right! They do have truffle pigs! But they also have truffle dogs. Pretty interesting, huhhhhhh?

Now these are just some of the fun wild animals that you can catch (with your bare hands), but only if you know the secret twelve step Bullsheet wild animal catching method. We learned this method from our great great grandparents. Believe it or not, we all have the same great great grandparents. Now I know what you're thinking, isn't it statistically improbable that everyone on the Bullsheet staff would have the same great great grandparents? Well ooooobviously you haven't met our great great grandparents (let's just say that they get around). Now I know what you're thinking; if they're getting around, just how around are they getting? The answer is not that much, they just have a lot of sex.

Now before you try to catch a wild animal with your bare hands, you'll need a few important items. Those are wolverine claws (the cheap ones you get from Target) and peanut butter. The first step is---

(continued next week)

-William Kelsey, Wild Animal Catcher

-Blythe Dahlem, Blythe Dahlem

EXPLOITING OUR WRITING STAFF FOR CONTENT

Bullsheet writers write. Bullsheet editors edit. These have been the rules since the beginning of time. Unfortunately, our writing staff doesn't always feel like writing, which can make my job a little bit difficult. I was frustrated with the lack of content tonight, so I made some vague threats and locked three of our writers in the Sheet office and forced them to have an awkward conversation with each other. In a desperate attempt in producing content, I'd like to present you with out of context snippets of their conversation that I sat here silently transcribing while pretending to pay minimal attention to them.

"Recently I've been eating a lot of Benadryl and it helps me sleep a lot"
 "I like the window open, but cold feet I don't vibe with"
 "I wish I was infertile"
 "Detroit is getting better by the day"
 "Who hasn't been watering my hemlock?"
 "Are there other couches on campus?"
 "I had a fun dream the other day where I was driving a tricycle and then I got in a tricycle accident and then I died"
 "Y'all ever seen monster house? I've seen the first half twelve times."
 "Has anyone ever read the Viagra book?"
 "Can you guys take your socks off with your feet? I love doing that it's so fun"
 "For some reason I forgot what a florist was and I thought about Florida."
 "There's something vaguely phallic about the Suez Canal"
 "I can throw knives with my feet"
 "My mom was having a psychotic breakdown and then I had powers to float and stuff"
 -Blythe Dahlem, Sophomore Writer
 -Ellie Schrader, Sophomore Writer
 -William Kelsey, Sophomore Writer
 -James Whitney, Transcriber
 "I think all dogs can tell if there's peanut butter on your testicles"

ELLIE TRIES TO THINK OF ARTICLE IDEAS

"What technology defines you. If you use an ... if you use an iPad... you are definitely going to join an MLM. If you use an iPod shuffle... you are going to die soon. If you use a Samsung, you are technologically literate, but people don't like you. If you have a flip phone, you are a baller.

The shits that you take, what do they say about you? A big steamy one? You're healthy. If it's just little like niblets, like a rabbit, you might be a rabbit.

What does your vice say about you? If you are a gambler you're trying to turn away from alcohol. Sex? Is that a vice? If your vice is sex then you're just a baller.

States ranked 50 to 1. Oh my god... Montana. California. Arkansas. Connecticut. Maine. Snide. These are in order of my favorite ones.

-Ellie Schrader, Thinker

-James Whitney, Transcriber

Staff "the twelve step method" Box

Charlie "step one" Schweiger, Third Cousin
 James "remember step one" Whitney, Third Cousin
 Jack "step one is the first step" May, Third Cousin
 Betsy "the first step is the most important step" Wagner, Third Cousin
 Katie "don't forget step one" Kerrigan, Third Cousin
 Elizabeth "step one is crucial" Arterberry, Third Cousin
 Maggie "if you skipped step one go do it now" Bell, Third Cousin
 Blythe "don't even think about step two" Dahlem, Third Cousin
 Ellie "don't do anything until after step one" Schrader, Third Cousin
 William "they call it step one because it is first" Kelsey, Third Cousin
 Emma "finish step one" Rutherford, Third Cousin

