SPRINGTIME BINGO TIME!

As sophomores here at Dennyson, we have never had the pleasure of experiencing a real springtime on campus. Fortunately for us, we've been able to make it long enough here in ~~this prison camp~~ on the hill to experience all of these fictional events below. See if you can get bingo and I'll give you a dollar and a kiss on the cheek (through mask) if u show me this completed sheet!

Watch Chet Hanx go live on Instagram for #whiteboysummer	Drink a full 1.5L wine of your choice	Watch your friend play golf. Sticks and balls in the spring always get a rise ifyouknowwhatimean	Walk into a random room in Crawford mistakenly thinking you are in Shorney and demanding to find your Juul. You know it was one of those Dchis	Bleach your hair and cut it into a chic lob
Roll duWAP at Slivys only to be disappointed that it wasn't just Jamie Lee Curtis and a loop pedal	Re-learn how to read and write.	Get serenaded by the worker in the Taco Bell drive through and sing back	Have your fair share of evening burps. Mmm baby needs a hiccup :(Pour one out for prince phillip. Rip he would've loved a piña colada BANG™
Watch every Rosamund Pike epic girlboss moment movie such as, but not limited to, Gone Girl	Talk exclusively in baby voice. Also behave like a baby, diapers etc. Burping time again?	FREEDOM SPACE	Dress in full spring fits in defiance of the cold weather. I'm not shivering you are	LARP as the two guys from sonic but supply your own slush
Go viral on TikTok	Become a WASP MOM.	Listen exclusively to "The Way I Are" by Timbaland feat. Keri Hilson	Get lost in the bio and only just make it out in time for class on Tuesday	Try desperately to entertain your impatient friend waiting for Rico Suave to start
Bribe Dustin to let you get out of signal testing ... on an unrelated note, use my code "VAX69" at whistler for 10% off.	Drop off cold chicken avocados for your 10 friends in quarantine.	Spend too much time trying to figure out how to enter your pin for registration and still be unsure when the time comes	Change rooming arrangements 6 times and still not be happy	Built an underground tunnel system from the Ebaugh Pond to Bryant with a plastic spoon.

COMMUNITY UPDATE

Dear campus community,

It's hard to believe that there are only a handful of weeks left in this semester. I'd like to start this update by congratulating everyone on and off campus for all that you've achieved. The challenges our community has faced this past year and a half and our consistent victories over them just reminds me of how strong Denisonians truly are. I am honored to be surrounded by such upstanding citizens.

I wanted to address some concerns we've had in regards to gatherings on East Quad. We are anticipating warmer weather in the coming weeks, and with warmer weather comes expanded outdoor activities. Although we are working towards full campus vaccination, we still cannot allow the outdoor gatherings we saw last semester. I have been in talks with student leaders and our biology department, and we have come to the conclusion on some preventative measures.

For the past month, the dedicated students and faculty of our biology department have been working tirelessly to genetically modify chihuahuas generously donated to us by the Licking County Humane Society. Because of their hard work, I am finally able to announce the introduction of the Denison Appalachian Hellhounds. In their natural habitat, these Hellhounds stalk the mountains to our east, protecting against ill-willing strangers. For centuries, travellers have reported feeling watched while making their way through the mountain pass, hearing wicked growls in the shadows, seeing glowing eyes in the dark. Hundreds have gone missing, and precious few have confronted one and lived to tell the tale - even if they do return home, they are never the same.

Starting May 4th, every night at 10:00PM sharp, these Hellhounds will be released onto East Quad. My intention with this is not to threaten the East Quad residents. In fact, it's the opposite. I hope, with the Hellhounds, gatherings will be self-regulated, and the risk of Covid-19 on campus will be greatly reduced. I hope you can see my reasoning when I say that the presence of Hellhounds will, in fact, make students more comfortable.

More information regarding how these sentries will work will be communicated in the coming days. For now, know that the Swasey Chapel bells will begin ringing at 9:55PM every night from now until the end of the semester. You'd best hope you're inside when they stop. If you find yourself outside after 10:00, I suggest climbing onto an elevated surface, such as a tree. The Hellhounds can climb, but it should buy you enough time to call your mother and tell her you love her.

We have done an amazing job managing COVID on campus this year. Students deserve much of the credit. I am proud to be your president and to be associated with you. I can't state this strongly enough. I am #DenisonProud.
