

bullsheet@denison.edu | denisonbullsheet.com | @DUBullsheets

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA (for now), and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day submission via e-mail to:bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: Betsy Delivered this morning by: William
vol. LXVII/ no. 113/April 8th, 2021

LETS REVIEW A FILM WITH MOTHER EFFING WILL KELSEY

Gutland (2017) is a Luxembourgish thriller mystery. And that’s about all you need to know about that. It’s the kind of movie that starts off deeply unsettling, but in a way that you can’t quite put your finger on. It follows a German thief as he hides from the law in a small town in Luxembourg, a town that has more than its fair share of secrets as well. By the end of the film I was shedding tears of... terror? Happiness? Some strange emotion caught up between the two? It’s the kind of film that bounces around in your head and you end up rewatching a year or two down the line because you can’t really stop thinking about it. 9/10 pretty good, could use some more time in the slurry pit.

Cats (2019) is an American horror adventure film, that follows a group of human spirits twisted by some cruel mind into the form of poor monsters half feline and half human. Much like the Cumaen Sybil, they strive for nothing more than the sweet release of death and an end to their misery. They achieve this death through the ritualistic sacrifice of an elected party—which is in some ways reminiscent of the ritual sacrifice of Yeshua Ha-Notsri. In much the same way the Yeshua Ha-Notsri was thought to ascend from the torture of this earthly plane, the winner of the Jellicle Ball is allowed the privilege of death. 13/10 one of the best horror movies of recent years. I particularly enjoyed its unique take on European cosmology (a field that is sorely under-studied).

Gutland is actually a good film though.

-William Kelsey, Staff Box

!REMINDERS FOR THE REST OF APRIL!

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
				1X	2X	3X
4EasterX	5X	6X	7X	8Eat a Kraft single!	9Eat a Kraft single!	10Eat a Kraft single!
11Eat a Kraft single!	12Eat a Kraft single!	13Eat a Kraft single!	14Eat a Kraft single!	15Eat a Kraft single!	16Eat a Kraft single!	17Eat a Kraft single!
18Eat a Kraft single!	19Eat a Kraft single!	20Eat a Kraft single!	21Eat a Kraft single!	22Earth Day	23Eat a Kraft single!	24Eat a Kraft single!
25Eat a Kraft single!	26Eat a Kraft single!	27Eat a Kraft single!	28Eat a Kraft single!	29Eat a Kraft single!	30Eat a Kraft single!

BULLSHEET HORROR MOVIE?

Oh no! A murderer is on the loose in the Bioreserve and the whole staff of the Bullsheet happens to be messing around! What’s the fate of these unfortunate people...?

11. After spouting off facts about the statistics of getting murdered, Blythe would be sniped from afar alerting the others to the prescence of a murderer. Blythe would definitely be off somewhere that the dim bonfire light doesn’t touch, playing online poker in an effort to ensure that his fellow staff members can’t see him.
10. James Whitney is a goner. After trying to make the staff learn a very important lesson from the murder of Blythe, he’s immediately offed. He is noticed by the killer because he just had to bring a flock of pledges to the gathering, all of whom were taken out with him. At least his whiskey wasn’t knifed with him!
9. Seeing this sight would make our dear head writer, Katie, VERY nervous. Nervousness=laughter. Giving her location away she’s dead next. We all know that Katie couldn’t control her laughter to (literally) save her life, and in this scenario, her life was not spared. Sometimes laughter isn’t the best medicine
8. Sadly, Ellie is our next victim because she decided to Instagram live (from the Bullsheet instagram account, of course) this event in a desperate attempt to call for help. Her exact location was discovered, and just as quickly as her prints sold out, she was impaled.
7. William is unfortunately the next to go, because he heard Ellie’s shrieks and ran to help her (what a gentleman). Upon discovering Ellie’s pale remains, and screaming in horror, he is discovered and taken to the farm to live the rest of his life in peace.
6. Jack assumes because he’s got long legs he can move fast. Not true, buck-a-roo! After deciding that his life is more important than his girlfriend, you would think he’d know the bioreserve... but Jack isn’t the most coordinated runner, so he trips and is karmically impaled on a stump that resembles a stake.
5. Next on the list is Maggie. Using great entrepreneurial and communication skills that she’s picked up from her time at the Red Frame Lab, her resilience’s match is met by a knife.
4. Charlie would now reach his breaking point, he wouldn’t be able to stay chill anymore. His anxiety would consume him completely causing him to die on the spot. Also, deciding that the publication couldn’t continue single-handedly, he his screams of panic alert the murderer to his location. Easier for the murderer I guess!
3. Emma is a tough cookie and would be able to outsmart the murderer. Her only downfall...low blood sugar...sionara Australia! As her insulin pump reaches empty, the Bullsheet’s international student representation in staff is reduced to zero percent. No more shrimp on the barbie here or whatever they be sayin.
2. After hiding for this whole episode, Betsy makes it out alive. This sequence of murders needed a hearthrob. The girl you root for. The girl that’s supposed to sit there and survive. She has braved Judas Jack’s attempts at dipping and the murderer has left the scene, as she had hid in a tree hollow until the next night to ensure her safety.
1. Elizabeth knew this whole thing was coming, so she stayed home. There is a 66% chance for a good night for those named Elizabeth.

Surprise! It was actually Blythe all along with the help of Major Biden, the malicious biting dog! What an absolute bummer!

- C.S. + B.W. = <3

i hate when i get in line at trader joe's specifically with the hot cashier and it's taking a long time so the ugly old dumbdore lookin ass cashier next to them is like "i can take you over here!" it ruins my day like bitch fuck you i hope snape obliterates ur wrinkly ass fr cause now i gotta talk to you about the weather or something instead of getting my daily dose of softcore flirt porn

Staff “supplements” Box
.....	William “zinc” Kelsey, Managing Editor
.....	William “b-12” Kelsey, Junior Editor
.....	William “fish oil” Kelsey, Junior Editor
.....	William “Omega-3” Kelsey, Sophomore Editor
.....	William “Vitamin D” Kelsey, Head Writer
.....	William “Folic Acid” Kesley, Senior Writer
.....	William “Birth Control” Kelsey, Junior Writer
.....	William “Vitamin A” Kelsey, Sophmore Writer
.....	William “Garlic” Kelsey, Sophomore Writer
.....	William “Amino Acids” Kelsey, Sophomore Writer
.....	William “Adderall” Kelsey, Sophomore Writer

