

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, is hanging on for dear life, and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day submission via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: charlie :) Delivered this morning by: ellie :)
vol. LXVII/ no. 133/May 7th, 2021

COPING MECHANISMS

Who was gonna tell me that next week is the last week of classes... This semester sure flew by, and it sure wrecked me. I'm reserving next week for being sad on print for the public to read, and give you some rock solid coping mechanisms that I may or may not have picked up this semester. I am not condoning all of these, but I do recommend all of them. It is up to the discretion of the reader to decide which ones you should incorporate, and which ones are satire!

-Reincorporate your old kleptomaniacal habits, and practice these biweekly while on your way to get your morning Americano.

-Buy cookies from Silverstein but involuntarily let your roommates eat all of them up

-Get upstaged by the [omitted] But Better, but not lose a wink of sleep

-Read the [omitted] But Better, and start a petition to push administration to sell Rogaine in the bookstore

-Host small social events in your apartment (with COVID-19 safety guidelines and regulations, outlined in the Community Care Agreement and on Denison's Reopening Website, in mind) and buy outfits for these small gatherings just because you have a kitchen, despite the dysfunctionality of Denison appliances

-Pretend that you're a DA major when you do mental math quicker than your STEM (including math) major teammates at Ron & Jack's Trivia <3 and guess correctly (+5 for us!)

-Do a math problem on your thigh during the aforementioned Ron & Jack's Trivia and GET IT RIGHT and never let anyone forget it

-Never let the theatre kids, past or present, in your life know peace

-Bring out the pink Lamborghini just to race with Chyna, bring the Wraith to china, just to race in China.

GIVING A SHOUTOUT TO THE BEST MEALS/ FOODS THAT I'VE EATEN AT DENISON WITH STOCK PHOTOS FOR REFERENCE

-Huffman Chicken Sandwich. I am not sure how or why this sandwich came into my life, but I was a devout vegetarian until I saw a lil' pop-up inside Huff and a chef was whippin' out spicy chicken sandwiches. I thoroughly enjoyed two of these delicacies that day, and I still think about it.

WINNER WINNER CHICKEN TENDER FUCKING DINNER!

I would, and I can't stress this enough, only get a meal plan if it means that you can attend a winner winner chicken tender dinner at Curtis on Sunday nights. I have no idea if this has been discontinued or not, but showing up to Curtis belligerently under the influence on the Lord's holy day to stand in line for as many chicken tenders as your heart desires is worth all the money in the world. Especially when you follow this meal with ice cream from the plethora of flavors, only to inevitably make the person behind you scoop it for you. This is the American Dream.

-Slayter Noodle Bowl circa 2017. I firmly believe that it's a universal experience for everyone moving into Denison to experience nothing but painful bloating and diarrhea as you begin eating nothing but dining hall food. It is yet to be proven otherwise that Denison doesn't put laxatives in their food... This noodle bowl was painful but so delightful.

-Strawberry "Greek" Salad. Just as Judas betrayed Jesus, Slayter discontinued this salad. It had strawberries, spinach, feta cheese, almonds, mandarin oranges, and dressing. I could not tell you what the dressing was, but as someone who usually does not like dressing on salad, I can say that it was perfect. I would eat two of these in a sitting and I would do a lot for one of these salads again, made exactly how they were back in 2018.

-BUCKEYE BROWNIE: Adam Weinberg probably put his whole entire bussy into these brownies. They were soft, chewy, and fudgy brownies, drizzled with peanut butter and fudge. I would literally sacrifice Jack May to the Dark Lord just to taste one of these beautifully masterful confections again. Denison's biggest culinary flop was discontinuing these from Slayter because they paid my bills, cut my hair, washed my car, brushed my teeth, and filled my gas tank. Still not sure what a buckeye is, but I'll allow it for these brownies.

-Charlie Schweiger, Managing Editor <3

Staff "Granville restaurants" Box

- Charlie "STEAMROLLERS" Schweiger, Managing Editor
- James "Village Coffee" Whitney, Junior Editor
- Jack "Day y Noche" May, Junior Editor
- Betsy "Dragon Village" Wagner, Sophomore Editor
- Katie "Snapshots" Kerrigan, Head Writer
- Elizabeth "Alfie's" Arterberry, Junior Writer
- Maggie "Joe & Mimi's" Bell, Junior Writer
- Blythe "River Road" Dahlem, Sophomore Writer
- Ellie "Mai Chau" Schrader, Sophomore Writer
- William "Prospect St Smoothie" Kelsey, Sophomore Writer
- Emma "Subway" Rutherford, Sophomore Writer

Apparently the liver is the heaviest internal organ and not all white couples are siblings I need a minute

You want to chill later?

