

The Summersheet, an outlet for James to use after months of living on campus and slowly losing his mind, is printed once during the summer. Submissions must be sent before James finally gets around to doing this damn thing that he's been putting off to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: James
 Delivered this morning by: I guess also James?
 vol. I/ no. 1/August 6th, 2021

DENISON INTERNSHIP PROGRAM: TRANSLATED

(Text from original source: denison.edu circa 2021)

With the Denison Internship Program, you'll get a structured learning experience — and the opportunity to earn an academic transcription notation — as you explore career fields and apply academic coursework to the workplace. We give you support before, during, and after the internship. And, if you want to accept an unpaid or low-paying internship, you can apply for a stipend.

The internship program is a three-tiered partnership between students, employers, and the Knowlton Center for Career Exploration. We work with you to set your internship goals at the start — what you want to learn, achieve, and contribute. Mid-way through the internship, you'll review your progress towards those goals and near the end of the term, you will go through a self-evaluation and reflection process.

Make an appointment with a Knowlton Center Career Coach to learn about additional tools and resources. The Denison Internship program guide has a step-by-step checklist to help you navigate all requirements for stipends, internships, and more.

Editor's note: This has been a very good summer and I am very grateful and happy to have had this opportunity. I really wish my car worked properly though.

(Translation from a moody summer intern with nothing to do)

With the Denison Internship Program, you'll get a chance to be thrown directly out of the nest and forced to fend for yourself — and the opportunity to learn that the real world is a scary place full of everyday issues that you must deal with yourself — as your car breaks down, you forget to buy groceries, and the costs of merely existing cripple any hopes of having a savings account with more than two digits in it. And, if you want to ~~become free labor~~ accept an unpaid internship, Denison might give you a little bit of money to eat.

The internship program is a way for you to live in Hayes Hall for a fifth of the rent that you'd normally pay during the school year. We work with you to mentally prepare you for living in a 4B/2Ba apartment (with 3 roommates) for 1800 a month after spending a summer basking in the affordability of the finest student apartments that Granville has to offer.

Strap your boots on and prepare to explain to your friends that you're still on your college campus for the next three months straight. The Denison Internship program has everything you need to develop as a person and build character. Just make sure you get out of Licking County every now and then, you don't want to build too much character.

-James Whitney, Working Man

SUMMER INTERNSHIP BINGO

Be on a first name basis with all cashiers at the local gas station	Maintenance crews enter your kitchen unannounced while you're making eggs in your underwear	Denison cuts the power for 24 hours so you eat a dozen eggs in one day so they don't go bad	All the research students move out a month before you so they all give you the rest of their eggs	You run out of eggs
Say "Oh, I didn't realize you were still here" to four different individuals in a 24 hour period	An esteemed Summer Scholar gets shitfaced and steals a golf cart	Go an entire 48 hours without seeing another human being face to face (roommates count)	Listen to early 2010s pop hits blasting at full volume in front of Silverstein until 4 AM (Does not count if you don't hear an LMFAO or Black Eyed Peas song)	Assume somebody has been on campus all summer even though they're just visiting for one day
19-year-olds from Newark rob a Silverstein party	Find out your oven doesn't shut and avoid calling maintenance to do anything about it	EXISTENTIAL CRISIS (FREE SPACE)	Realize that Slayter, Mitchell, and the Mailroom all close before you get off work	Build connections with people in Licking County that don't live in Granville
Call home after two weeks and have absolutely no meaningful life updates to provide	Go back inside because 5 people that you don't know took the good picnic table that you wanted	Have a cheeseburger with a campus safety officer	Contractors decide to uninstall your GODDAMN FRONT DOOR in the middle of a Zoom meeting	Contemplate moving to Ohio permanently
Justify not having that Summer Bod because you're just going to wearing oxford shirts in a cubicle anyway	Move out of your Summer housing assignment into a temporary space in under 48 hours	Go to Knuckleheads but don't admit it to any of your friends	Get the doors to your absolute shitbox of a car blocked by TWO DIFFERENT MINI COOPERS HOW DOES THIS KEEP HAPPENING TO ME???????????????	Make plans to go somewhere scenic for a weekend and then never do it

LA OLYMPICS 2028

Topical?

Yes. currently the 2020 Tokyo Olympics are happening, and LA in 2028 is more relevant than Paris in 2024. Thanks to an anonymous source within the Olympic committee, the Bullsheet has its hands on the current proposed schedule for the summer 2028 Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

OPENING CEREMONIES

LOCATION: The Hollywood Sign.
TORCH BEARERS: Sway House
PERFORMERS: Diplo and Lana Del Rey

CULTURAL AMBASSADORS

The Kardashians
Charli and Dixie DeMilio
Prince Harry and Megan Markle

NEW SPORTS

Salad making
Going viral
Getting around quickly on the highways
Correctly identifying Goop candles

CLOSING CEREMONIES

LOCATION: Jada Pinkett-Smith's Red Table Live
-Griffin Conley '25, Content Submitter

MOVE IN PREP

Topical.

I am moving in this year.

1. I have gained 15 lbs in preparation of living on top of Curtis d-hall
2. I show up to the kitchen and just take whatever is in front of me without questioning it
3. Everytime I see a family member I ask them a combination of "What hall are you in?", "What is your major?", "Where are you from?", or "What classes do you have?"
4. I now go up flights of stairs twice to prepare myself for the Eisner to A-Quad commute
5. After finishing my laundry, I put it in a duffle bag, walk around for two minutes, then fold it on my bed
6. I have started wearing sandals in my shower I swipe a random card every time I go through the pantry or sit at the table to eat
7. I've moved my brother and sister into my room to prepare for my triple

-Griffin Conley '25, Prepared Individual

OBAMA'S BIRTHDAY

Topical?

Yes. Obama's birthday was cut down because of delta variant.

Recently, it was announced that Former President Barack Obama is making changes to his guest list and birthday party with the rise of COVID Cases. His outdoor party was supposed to have several hundred guests all following the health directions of the COVID coordinator. He has also shifted from asking for presidents to urging donations to a few charities. Overall, the event is now down to a small party with just friends and family.

The Bullsheet is happy to report we have gotten a hold of the list of presents that people plan to send, despite the Former President's wishes.

Hillary Clinton: 3 exclusive saxophone lessons with Bill and an autographed saxophone

Michelle Obama: in what appears to be an ironic joke, a print of Joe McNaughton's Obamamation

Oprah: A one year subscription to O Magazine

Malia and Sasha Obama: a combination of "dad shirts" from University of Michigan and Harvard from etsy.

-Griffin Conley '25, Obama Enthusiast

Staff "Staff" Box

James "James" Whitney, Rogue Editor

I can't believe that I finally did this.