

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, is hanging on for dear life, and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day submission via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: Wilfred Owen
Delivered this morning by: cuties drummer
vol. LXVIII / no. 31 / October 10th, 2021

FROM THE DIARY OF A. E. RASMUNDSSSEN pt.2

Today is an auspicious day! Passage was easily procured across the Atlantic aboard the RMS Lusitania, pride of the Cunard line and holder of the Blue Riband. The Atlantic voyage was fair, some fog far off in the distance but it kept its bay as if some divine hand reached out to part the waves for my coming, hastening my descent to yon college on the hill. From Sandy Hook passage was taken upon a series of locomotives and small carts until at last I found myself standing again at the base of that Hill. It is here that I must make note of my surroundings, Granville alone out of the small villages and settlements of Ohio seems uniquely protected against the evil of the world, In no other town have I seen seven different churches share their steeples with monuments to the Underwater Panther of the Fort Ancient Peoples and the Hex-signs and the Braucherei of the Deitsch settlers. If ever a fortress against the forces of evil were to be built, I would say that its corner stone would be the town, and its pinnacle the city on the hill.

First meeting with Dr. Mundus today; his illness has ravaged his once great frame. But he still lives! I have instructed the doctors to tell me as soon as he nears death so that I may witness the glory that is his final moments!! Within the glyphs carved under his skin I swear there are words beckoning me... They want something... want me to do something.

Searched Dr. Mundus' study today. Someone has gotten there ahead of me, it is ransacked. All of his knowledge that could have been mine is lost, nothing but a pile of ashes in the hearth and the cracked remnants of documents hastily burned. One piece of paper remained, it bared the image of a winged cat. Further research is needed.

I am become convinced that Mundus is hiding something from me. He was always jealous of my intellect, of all the things I could have been if he hadn't tried so hard to stop me. He was always scheming that one, full of secrets. His eyes were full of fear when he saw my arrival, clouded with madness and reflecting the storm that has gathered over this hill this past few days. I will find his secrets no matter the cost.

-Compiled by William Kelsey

FUN FALL BREAK PLANS FOR STUDENTS FROM OUT OF STATE!

Alcoholism and gaming in your dorm room by yourself

Talking to the one (1) person dining hall about how weirdly empty the campus is

Moving all of your roommate's furniture one inch to the left

-William Kelsey, out of stater

WHAT I THINK WENT DOWN AT D-DAY

I spent my D-Day being paid $10/hr to sit in a dark room listening to a bunch of men playing the guitar (as well as some sick upright bass, drums, and grand piano) so I (unfortunately) didn't get to see any part of D-Day. Here's what I think went down:

- 1 Hilltopper passed out drunk
- 15 repressed teenagers had their sexual awakening due to misterwives
- 1 prospective student got really lost and ended up backstage
- 1500 students were disappointed by the food
- 94 freshmen got trampled in the mosh
- 1 polycule got a little too excited (they thought it was Sister Wives, the TLC show about a polygamist family in Utah)
- 4 Fijis tried pickle flavored Ice Cream (rumor says it's not too bad)
- 1 Blythe Dahlem felt bad that he didn't go to the Jazz guitar fest (idk maybe he did go to the fest)
- 1 William Kelsey simultaneously laughed cried and tore his hair out because of an assigned reading for his English class
- 14 Craw residents considered pulling the fire alarm
- 43 new hookups led to awkward encounters at Anchor splash
- Half of Granville decided to take pictures at Swasey
- 1 James Jehesophan of Pandora, Ohio (Putnam County) left his house on Basinger Rd at approximately 8:43 pm, heading north on Crawfis College Rd to the intersection at Main, turning left and stopping at one of the town's two stop lights. From there he turned right and then left onto Washington street and headed west out of town. On the way out of town he hit a mule deer.

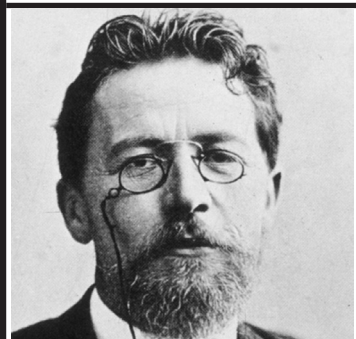

*William Kelsey,
Just happy to be alive*

POTENTIAL ANCHOR SPLASH THEMES

I learned some things attending my first Anchor Splash this year. One of which being that you can do whatever the fuck you want to do as long as you are having a good time with it. Some of my favorite themes this year were Checkers, the gunk at the bottom of a fundip bag, ninjas wearing sequined skirts, OSHA violations, Brokeback Mountain, and Kappa Sig. Here's a list of fun and sexy anchor splash themes to really mix it up next year:

- 1) DG: You don't plan anything just show up and copy everything that DG does
- 2) Mikhail Gorbachev: I would bet money that Mikhail threw it back on the reg.
- 3) Scottish Folk Ballads: Bust out the bagpipes
- 4) The Donner Party: As the dance goes on people start slowly disappearing. It is important for the plot. It will not be addressed later.
- 5) Blue Man Group: Make your own music!
- 6) Beat Poetry: Break out the turtlenecks and bongo drums, we are reevaluating a generation destroyed by madness.
- 7) Money: Bribe the Judges!!
- 8) Wizards Chess: With this move I will secure first place
- 9) The New Testament: Specifically just the parts where Peter bites off a guy's ear, and Pentecost.
- 10) Lordes and Ladies: It's just Lorde music but you do the dance in Kenyon's Mascot

William Kelsey

Staff "Lorde Songs" Box

Jack "Royals" May, Managing Editor
 Betsy "Bravado" Wagner, Junior Editor
 William "Green Light" Kelsey, Junior Editor
 Ellie "Solar Power" Schrader, Junior Editor
 James "Liability" Whitney, Head Writer
 Maggie "Ribs" Bell, Senior Writer
 Blythe "Love Club" Dahlem, Junior Writer
 Emma "Team" Rutherford, Junior Writer
 Lena "Tennis Court" Hanrahan, Junior Writer
 Evie "Buzzcut season" Waters, Junior Water
 Claire "Swingin Party" Anderson, Sophomore Writer
 Lily "Supercut" Anderson, Sophomore Writer
 Mick "Homemade Dynamite (Remix)" Smith, Sophomore Writer

1 upvote and I pull an all-nighter in the sheet office