

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, started being funny tonight, and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day publication via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited by: Maggie
Delivered this morning by: Lena
vol. LXVIII / no. 108 / March 23rd, 2022

NEXT YEAR'S SPRING BREAK

Are you as disappointed as I am that spring break is over? Lets brighten your day by fantasizing about next year's spring break activity options. Take the quiz to find out which location from the Netflix show "Dark Tourist" you should visit.

Continued on the back..

DESTINATIONS

A. Swim in Lake Chagan, Kazakhstan

“Lake Chagan is the result of a thermonuclear explosion that happened in 1965 at a nuclear test site in Semey, also known as ‘The Polygon’. The water at Lake Chagan is contaminated and INCREDIBLY RADIOACTIVE at nearly one hundred times more than permitted levels. As a result, there are no fish, no wildlife, no birds, and a disgusting odor often emanates from the water.”

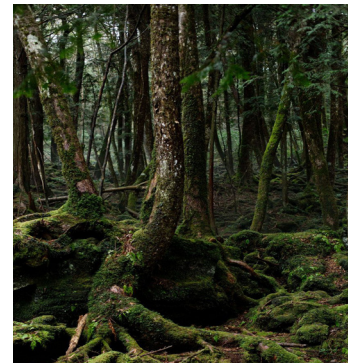

New Orleans Haunted French Quarters B.

“New Orleans is the most haunted city in the United States. This city is a place where the dead refuse to rest, in fact, there is no solid ground to hold them. Famous for its practitioners of the mystical arts, from Voodoo queens to professed vampires and Wiccans, New Orleans sets the stage for all manner of third eye explorations.”

C. Aokigahara Forest, Japan

“The forest has a historical reputation as a home to ghosts of the dead in Japanese mythology. At least since the 1960s, Aokigahara has become associated with suicide, eventually becoming known in English by the nickname “the Suicide Forest,” and gaining a reputation as one of the world’s most-used suicide sites. At night people have been known to be lost and are allegedly haunted to death by the forest’s evil spirits.”

(Founder)

McKamey Manor D.

“McKamey Manor is an American haunted house attraction in which survival horror-style events are enacted. Its is considered a pioneer of “extreme” haunted attractions. Guests must sign a liability waiver to participate. Items on the waiver include the inability to leave the experience without the staff’s permission and being subjected to various forms of physical and psychological torture, including having bones broken, teeth removed without anesthesia, and being drugged.”

-Maggie Bell, Travel Agent

Staff “Types of Butterflies” Box

Jack “Swallowtail Butterfly” May, Senior Editor
Maggie “Brush footed Butterfly” Bell, Senior Editor
Betsy “American Snout Butterfly” Wagner, Junior Editor
Ellie “Red Admiral Butterfly” Schrader, Junior Editor
.....
Adam “Monarch Butterfly” Marcia, Head Editor
James “Karner Blue Butterfly” Whitney, Head Writer
William “European Skipper Butterfly” Kelsey, Foreign Correspondent
Blythe “Blue Morpho” Dahlem, Junior Writer
Emma “Mourning Cloak Butterfly” Rutherford, Junior Writer
Lena “American Painted Lady Butterfly” Hanrahan, Junior Writer
Evie “Small Copper Butterfly” Writers, Junior Water
Claire “Creamy Marbling Butterfly” Anderson, Sophomore Writer
Mick “Sleepy Orange Butterfly” Smith, Sophomore Writer

Hell no, I'll be happily staying at Denison

