DENISON'S SPRINKLER PROBLEM

We have entered the time of the year where the weather is back and forth. One day it will be warm and sunny but the next day will be cold and cloudy. During this time of year there is always a lot of rain. I've been at Denison for two years, and I know it rains frequently during September, October, and November. Everyone on campus seems to know that it rains during these months so why does Denison keep the sprinklers on while it rains? It is a huge waste of water, and the funniest part is Denison's administration tries to claim that they are super environmentally friendly and conscious. Weather forecasts exist. All Denison needs to do is look at a weather app, it is not hard to know when it is going to rain. It is incredibly embarrassing to go to a school that can't even turn off the sprinklers on a Tuesday when it has been pouring rain for 12 hours. I walked home from Slayter while it was raining outside and had to dodge the sprinklers from hitting me on the way back to east quad. Denison treats its campus like a water park, but instead of having water slides they make their students pay an extreme amount of money and dump gallons of water on grass that has already been rained on. I don't know why this issue pisses me off so much. It is probably because even with all of Denison's issues I thought they could at least press a button to turn off the sprinklers while it is raining.

BRIN'S FALL FASHION ADVICE (Take Notes)

I have sorta become a fashion icon on campus if you didn't know. Someone once Denny desired that they "Luv Brin Glass aesthetic," so I've decided to bless you with my fall advice. Please take all of this with a large grain of salt.

1. Turtle neck and Chainz.
2. White bootcut pants with leopard print star patches embellishing each leg. Maybe, pair with a white knit sweater and white Air Force 1s. I don't care. But one thing is sure, these fashion-forward pants will take any outfit from a 1 to a 10!
3. Top hats. Preferably with a feather. Maybe peacock or falcon.
4. Chunky costume jewelry. I'm picturing a woman. She's middle-aged. Bright red Lipstick. Wearing the chunkiest, most fake-looking, abstract necklace you've ever seen. Do you see her too? Bring that jewelry back.
5. That shitty shirt you got on your classes' initiation day.

6. "Dayger/Darty" Big 10/Southern/Huge school fashion. I say the students of Denison get their act together and be a real college. I keep hearing the desire for a party scene, well then we need to bring the party! So here are my recommendations: bikinis with sheer cover-ups, swim trunks, bandanas (either around the head or neck), button-down shirts unbuttoned, etc.

7. Capri leggings.

8. What's better than paying for clothes? Stealing clothes. Find something in your dorm's community washer/dryer area, and take it! Take that sweater you've been eyeing. Or those socks that were abandoned beneath the washing machine. Take it all.

9. 3-D glasses with the eye-pieces of plastic popped out. Unironically.

10. Last but not least, two things should be implemented into every shirt: tie-dye and The Grateful Dead. I know you're thinking, Brin, where can I find this? I'll tell you: Waterbeds 'N' Stuff 50th Anniversary T-shirt. Wish them a happy 50 years!
