ELECTION RESULTS

2022 Midterm Election Results

The election was nitty gritty and nasty here on Denison’s campus, it can be a nerve wracking environment to navigate, but you’re in luck. Evie Waters and Betsy Wagner are here to help sum up the controversial topics that are on your minds.

Does Gerrymandering Happen Here?

Long story short- nope. All districts are fairly divided, please see the map below.

Kappa Sigma House receives 50% of the Denison campus vote (due to districting)

Due to Validity Reasons:
This is approved by DU Votes

Issues on the Ballot

Issues No. 1: Would you rather go to school naked on purpose or on accident?

80% of campus said on purpose, because you wanna be in control, dontcha?

Issues No. 2: Would you never wear your shoes or only wear shorts?

Campus was unanimous, never wear you shoes and just walk on the beach all of the time!

Issues No. 3: Would you rather do a whippet on Instagram Live or jumponyourbed50times on Instagram Live?

Majority of Denison said whippets but unfortunately... the Hoaglin Center’s free supply was faulty and campus had to jumpontheirbeds50times instead.

Issues No. 4: Would you rather lose your foot in quicksand or by a shark?

SPLIT! Campus just couldn’t make up their damn minds! But....Kappa Sigma House abstained from answering.

Issues No. 5: Would you rather ask for an extension via Notes App Apology™ or by Messenger Pigeon©?

70% said pigeons! Watch out buzzards!!

LICKING MY COUNTY

Issues No. 6: Would you pay taxes to enable Licking County children to have a powerful and enriching education?

All of campus voted yes, besides Kappa Sigma House voted no, therefore, the overwhelming majority was NO

Issues No. 7: Would you rather drive a van FULL OF JELLY BEANS or EAT SAND FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE? (NO CLARIFYING QUESTIONS!!!!)

ummmmmm probably drive a van full of jelly beans

I WON THE ELECTION!

Dear Bullsheet readers,

I would like to announce that I won the election last night! Yes, the midterm elections that you voted in I was running for office and I did in fact win. But, “why didn’t we see you on the ballot”, you might ask. Well, that is because I’m still registered to vote in the great state of Kentucky, and since I figured my vote was worthless there I might as well run for office and try to make a difference.

I ran a campaign better than whoever that “Taxing” Tim Ryan guy is that I’ve seen in ads before all the youtube videos I’ve watched for the last 3 months which was so heavily attacking Tim Ryan that I still have no clue what his opponent’s name is. But that doesn’t matter to me, cause I didn’t vote in Ohio.

I didn’t run for any big offices, what with Rand Paul and Charles Booker taking up most of the votes for the Senate race—I figured I had less of a chance than Booker! But like him, I still figured I’d give it a shot for the greater good. I didn’t run for state office either, those folks that work up there are just a bunch of wannabee phonies who couldn’t get a big kid job in Washington.

How did I run a perfect campaign from Ohio while not meeting a single voter? Well the answer is very simple, I hired a bunch of people’s uncles and great uncles to post on facebook calling my candidate all sorts of names. We photoshopped his face onto Hannibal Lector, Jason Voorhees, Freddy Kruger, and Michael Meyers... but then I realized most of those people are only scary for their faces. Then I just had them post a bunch of disinformation about my opponent. The one that got the most traction was that he would lose your grandmother’s corpse.

Well anyways, I’m off to serve the State of Kentucky as the newly elected Jefferson County Coroner!*

 ok satire article over. Can someone explain why my county elects a coroner? Please?!?
I don’t get it.*
