COSTUME IDEA FOR NEXT YEAR

Claire,
Managing Editor

Did not see a single person dressed as Garfield. We need to correct this immediately. Somebody step up to the plate next year, I beg of you.

TOP HALLOWEEN TREATS OF 2023

Eleanor Mason,
First Year Writer

With Halloween so close, it's time to pick your poison and decide exactly how you plan to put yourself into a sugar coma this year. Think about your favorite candy. Think about how amazing it is, and how much you'd like to be eating it right now. Isn't that nice? Now forget all about it and listen up, because it's time for my list of the top three underrated Halloween treats to bring your October 31 to the next level.

#3: Candy Wrappers

While by no means a revolutionary choice, this is a great option for the environmentally conscious consumer. Every year, millions of candy wrappers enter our oceans. As anyone who's tried to open their eyes underwater knows, it's pretty hard to see down there, and your standard, gullible, Mounds-bar-loving fish can't tell the difference between their favorite treat and an empty wrapper just waiting to choke up their little fishy esophaguses (esophagi?). But fear not! This year, you can be part of the solution. Eating your wrappers not only protects our piscine pals, but it also adds a nice, crunchy aluminum finish to that plain old boring chocolate. Eat the package, save a turtle!

#2: Toothbrush

We've all been there. You're trick-or-treating, having a nice time, and you walk up to a house that looks just like any other. And then your dentist answers the door. Damn. Instead of the treats you're searching for, they hand you a toothbrush, and make some tired old joke about needing it after eating all that candy. Har har. Well here's your chance to stick it to the man. Unwrap that sucker and crunch it down. Look into their eyes. That's right. Not only will you get to savor the expression on their face, but you'll finally know exactly what it's like to chomp through a piece of plastic roughly the diameter of a human finger. Never again will you have to stand in front of the mirror at night and wonder what life would be if you only had the confidence to take that first bite. And hey, even if you're too old to trick-or-treat, there's no harm in heading down to the drugstore and performing this trick at your next Halloween get-together.

#1: Wax Lips

Do you love 70s throwbacks? Did you recently fall through a wormhole and suddenly find yourself in the year 2023 (my deepest condolences)? Have you ever looked at a candle and thought, "Yeah, I'd eat that"? If any of these are true for you, then you'll love this top tier Halloween treat. The only actual candy on this list, wax lips are not only great for people who love biting on that stick thing while they take pictures of your teeth at the orthodontist, but they also cater perfectly to anyone who yearns to gnaw on a Babybel shell but fears the judgmental stares of society. Are they flavored? Are they chewy? Are they actually edible? Try the #1 candy of 2023 and find out for yourself today!
