

FUN FACTS ABOUT TODAY'S SOLAR ECLIPSE!

Christine Trueh,
Will Eventually be 30

- ★ Also known as “The Day of Black Sun”. All fire bending is rendered useless during a solar eclipse. A perfect time for an invasion of the Fire Nation.
- ★ Planets can be seen during the daytime with the naked eye during a solar eclipse.
- ★ On August 2, 1133, a solar eclipse occurred and King Henry I died shortly afterward – which prompted the superstition that eclipses are bad omens for rulers.
- ★ SunChips released a limited edition solar eclipse flavor!
- ★ It is not safe to look at a solar eclipse directly without proper glasses!! The next solar eclipse in the US won't happen until March 30th, 2033. I'll be 30 (oh my-).

STRANDS (BETA)

Claire Anderson,
NOT the NYT

Find the words to fill up the board! Theme words fill up the entire board, and no words overlap. No hints allowed! Also no answer key, this is a piece of paper!

Find the SHEETGRAM. The SHEETGRAM describes the puzzles theme and touches two opposite sides of the board.

TODAY'S THEME
Don't look up!

8 Theme words to find

A	O	E	T	E	R
L	F	S	C	K	E
I	U	S	P	O	T
E	N	S	I	R	I
S	E	C	L	A	N
S	A	R	E	T	Y
L	A	L	I	L	A
G	S	O	T	O	T

If you must know the answer key to Strands (beta) (NO AFFILIATION WITH NYT STRANDS (BETA)), email me your answers at anders_c4@denison.edu. I will not tell you if you got it right or not, but there will be signs.

THIS JUST IN: FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT SELAH GRIFFIN BREAKS HER SILENCE

CONGENIALITY DECKED OUT!

Selah Griffin,
Posh AF

Culture shock is not all it's cracked out to be. Sure, maybe the lack of a language barrier or the fact that everyone here is the embodiment of Paddington himself, but I have yet to feel particularly alienated by English 'culture.' In fact, there is a lot that I've really come to embrace. I love saying "cheers" to the bartender after ordering a pint, UK drill rap, charity shops, steak and ale pastys, etc. However, the one thing that I continue to be a bit baffled by is the Brits and their dogs. Much like their owners, English dogs are tremendously inbred. You can tell by the way they breathe a little funny and never seem to live more than a few years. And yet, in line with English tradition, purebreds are treated like royalty. These dogs are always impeccably groomed, dressed in little suede jackets or bowties, and are allowed in most stores and restaurants. I have no working thesis or moral quandary associated with this phenomenon, I don't even think it's a phenomenon to begin with. It's simply taken up a lot of mental space these past few months. With no real conclusion or, albeit, purpose to begin with, I figured the best way to get this out of my system is to play Brit and do some doggy dress-up.

Staff "Reaction to Seeing The Eclipse" Box

Claire "Woahhh" Anderson, Managing Editor
 Caroline "Me oh my!" Lopez, Junior Editor
 Caroline "Wowza" Concannon, Junior Editor
 Carter "Zoo Wee Mama!" Seipel, Sophomore Editor
 Mick "I'm Blind Now" Smith, Head Writer
 Lauren "Oh lala" Ehlers, Senior Writer
 Brin "WHATTTTTTT!?!?" Glass, Junior Write
 Griffin "Knew it would like that TBH" Conley, Junior Writer
 Ella "I can't see it :(" Buzas, Foreign Correspondent
 Selah "Cheers" Griffin, Foreign Correspondent
 Micah "Where?" Stromsoe DeLorenzo, Foreign Correspondent
 Emmy "E-what?" Ayad, Foreign Correspondent
 Tatum "Sick." Thomas, Junior Writer
 Christine "Much better than class" Trueh, Sophomore Writer
 Leah "Yoooooooooooooooooooo" Jackson, Sophomore Writer
 Eleanor "Crazyyyyyyyyyyy" Mason, Freshman Writer
 Lucy "Again Again!" Dale, Freshman Writer

