GRANVILLE'S "MOST BUNDLED" PUBLICATION

Vol. XLV, No. 77

DOS AND DON'TS: WEATHER EDITION

*Lindsey George,
Warning You*

DO:

- Bundle up! You don't look as stupid as you think you do when you're comfy cozy in your wool scarf and knitted hat. It's worth it.
 - Use the underground tunnels between buildings to travel between your classes.
- Walk in the middle of the road to avoid the slush. All of the cars that anxiously swerve around you will cheer for you and your natural genius.
 - Read the Bullsheet! It's a great way to pass the long cold days when you're stuck inside.
 - Buy proper winter gear (see next page).

DON'T:

- Walk to Barney-Davis. If you must, it's a better bet to ski down. And if you slip on the downhill slope, well, I warned you.
 - Get sick. Please, I beg of you.
 - Make unnecessary journeys.
 - Take risks on treacherous roads.
 - Swim in the sea.
- Walk to South Quad. Especially to the sorority houses. How dare you even think the thought. At this point, don't even rush. It's not worth the time spend outside in the unforgiving winter air.
 - Leave your carbonated drink in your freezing car...KABOOM!!!

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW FOR RUSH

Lily Reaser, Rushing???

Rush is upon us, and it is time to begin preparations for hell week. Fear not, ladies and pledges, I, a freshman who is not rushing at all, will guide you along the way. In no particular order, here are some tips, tricks, and things to look out for when rushing.

1. Prepare for blow or blow. I have never done blow, and I am not sharing if I have blown, so I guess I can't really share what you should do. I guess it's in the eye of the beholder on which is worse: a life-altering, highly addictive drug or a man's thingy.
2. Make sure to bring up the 5 B's; they're the only things you can talk about. If you don't bring up at least 1 of these 5, you are NOT getting a bid: Boys, Booze, Bank Accounts, Bibles, or Ballots. I would recommend starting conversations with politics and then asking for a drink because it makes you so angry.
3. The temperature is going to be in the negatives the next couple of nights, but if you are not popping out in a skirt and crop top, you are NOT getting a bid. This applies to EVERYONE, men included. No pants, no boots, no hats, no scarves, and definitely no jackets. (Don't even think about mittens.)
4. Tell the girl you're talking to in Tri-Delt that you DO NOT WANT TRI-DELTA AT ALL.
5. You will get hazed. These hands at Denison haze. Come with an empty stomach for butter hotdogs pledges!
6. One house has rats, but I'm not gonna tell you which one, you just have to guess.
7. And finally, have fun! Don't stress so much! It's really not a big deal at all. Greek life is really just about networking and friendships. You will never regret this choice. Now, PLEASE send your dues to my Venmo: @Lily-Loves-Cash

SO YOU WANT TO BE BUNDLED...

Lindsey George,
Warm

So you want to be bundled, you say... Well, you've come to the right place. At The Bullsheet, we offer expertise for all of your problems, including how to be warm AND look fabulous at the same time. Below is an array of hats, scarves and gloves/mittens to help you find your own unique look. Take a peek, and put together your dream cold weather outfit. Think you've put together the most stylish combo? Send your choices back to The Bullsheet, and we'll let you know. Stay warm out there, dear readers!
