Word Search Shoutouts!

Hello le epic Redditors!!!! First order of business is to shout out the two WORD SEARCH SUBMISSIONS WE GOT!! It was a tricky puzzle, even for someone who has as much karma as myself (also a master of arguing in the comments).

Shoutout to: AJ York (see you at D&D ;)) Josie Knee + Kenzie Kinnie, and most importantly, The heart shaved into Hugh Kanner-Bitetti's chest (I'll take your word for it, AJ).

We also had some quotes from a conversation between two of our solvers that they would like published:

"This made my day, my week, actually. Sad sex wasn't part of it, [but there was] backwards sex... reverse cowgirl." - Kenzie

When she finished the word search, Josie said, " I feel like I struck gold. The Bullsheet is my favorite publication of any sort. Since it is Valentine's Day, Josie Knee is single and ready to mingle. She's a great friend and even more wonderful lover, not to mention she's extra funny-"

"funny looking" - Kenzie

"Hit me up knee_j1@denison.edu" - Josie

Anyway, that's all from me! Enjoy today's Reddit-Sheet and be on the lookout for brainrot text-to-speech versions (Subway Surfers and everything!) on the Instagram.

Edit: WOW!!! Didn't expect this to blow up!! Thank you for the awards kind strangers! I think I have won the internet today. This is really Wholesome 100.

AITA for respecting an ex-friend's boundaries?

Throw away account, I really needed to get this off my chest and get an outside perspective because this situation is blowing up in my face. I (19f) recently went through a friendship breakup with a friend (18m) who we will call Abull. Abull and I were in the same friend group until recently, allegedly because of disagreements with our mutual friend, we'll call Mat-Ador, he removed himself from the group chat. Ever since he's been distancing himself from everyone. The one time I could find him, he wouldn't make eye contact with me and made up random excuse to leave. Blah blah I need to go blah blah broken window locks blah blah locksmith coming soon. Yeah right, just say you hate me and you never want to see me again. So, I left him be and a week went by without me seeing him once. Yesterday, some of our other friends came to me, asking me to help find Abull and Mat-Ador. Apparently, they went off together, WITHOUT ME!? I seriously don't understand. I'm a great friend, I invite Abull to my events and go out of my way to tell him about my day, but Abull would rather hang out with MAT-ADOR. The same guy he was fighting with just last week?! Last we talked, Abull couldn't be around him without seeing red! I obviously refused, if he wanted to distance himself from me then so be it. Now everyone is mad at me. They say the last time the two were seen, Mat-Ador was dragging Abull into the woods. Probably a secret camping trip they didn't invite me to >:(What do you think?

What did you do before being a mascot for the Bullsheet?

I worked in bull fighting but not as a bull. I was the matador! It was rough, dangerous, and unethical. I regret it deeply but I feel so lucky that I found comedy writing when I did because it pulled me out of a really dark place

1. Not a question. 2) Don't believe in everything you read on reddit ;)

How did you get so good at puns?

I know the saying goes "Give a man a pun and he laughs for a day. But teach a man to pun and he'll laugh for the rest of his life," but I worry that if people get better at making puns than me, I'll be out of a job!

If you were a University, how would you improve retention rates?

Each dorm room would now come with your choice of a hamster, gerbil, or chinchilla. This pet would then be entirely your responsibility to care for but it would not be allowed to leave campus. How could you bare to drop out if you have a little critter to care for?

I'd build a Taco Bell on campus. That way campus would always feel like home.

Communication is key! And by that I mean I would keep telling everyone how important retention rates are to me. After that the rest should all fall into place.

My first step would be figuring out how the hell I was turned into a University. My next step would be turning myself back into a human.

OP have you tried less parking? Might make people more reluctant to move their cars

Who cares about retention rates? The smaller the student body the more exclusive you'll seem. Actually, now that I think about it, I'd probably kick one random student out every week just to make it look even more prestigious...
