

Edited last night by:
Carter (but orange)
Delivered this morning by:
Lilly A. (but orange)

April 13th, 2026

GRANVILLE'S "MOST ORANGE" PUBLICATION

Vol. XLV, No. 124

THE RESULTS ARE IN: | MORE DATA NEEDED!

Seriously. DENISON STUDENTS! We need you to fill out a 4 question survey (only 4 questions!) for a super secret and exciting event The Sheet may or may not cobble together in a week's time.

SCAN
HERE!

PLEASE
DO IT!

ORANGE YOU GLAD ITS THE BULLSHEET!

A REALLY FUNNY STORY INVOLVING AN ORANGE!

*Carter Seipel,
Orange you glad this is his third last Bullsheet?*

As a senior, the best academic advice I ever got was to give your professor a shiny apple on the first day of classes. The second best advice I ever got was to give your professor an orange before your final exams. I did this for three years and got an A on every final. And I think I had the oranges to thank. Why? Vitamin C, silly! This little thing boosts immune systems and moods. And my professors are going to need to be in a good mood if they're going to review my sloppy handwriting, lack of sources, and misplaced, commas. So, now that they're in a good mood, they'll grade me nicer. But more importantly, their hands will be covered in sticky juices from the orange. Why is this important? Their hands will ruin my physical final! Embarrassed with egg on their face and orange on their hands, they'll re-do my entire final and put my name on it in an attempt to cover up their mistake. As the professor, their answers will obviously be flawless, and I'll earn an A. Works everytime! Anyways, funny story, my professor slipped on an orange peel, and now I'm being sued and investigated for "academic dishonesty." I can't vitamin see how that's fair! Guess the C in "Vitamin C," stands for "cheater." Hopefully I don't get a Vitamin "C-!"

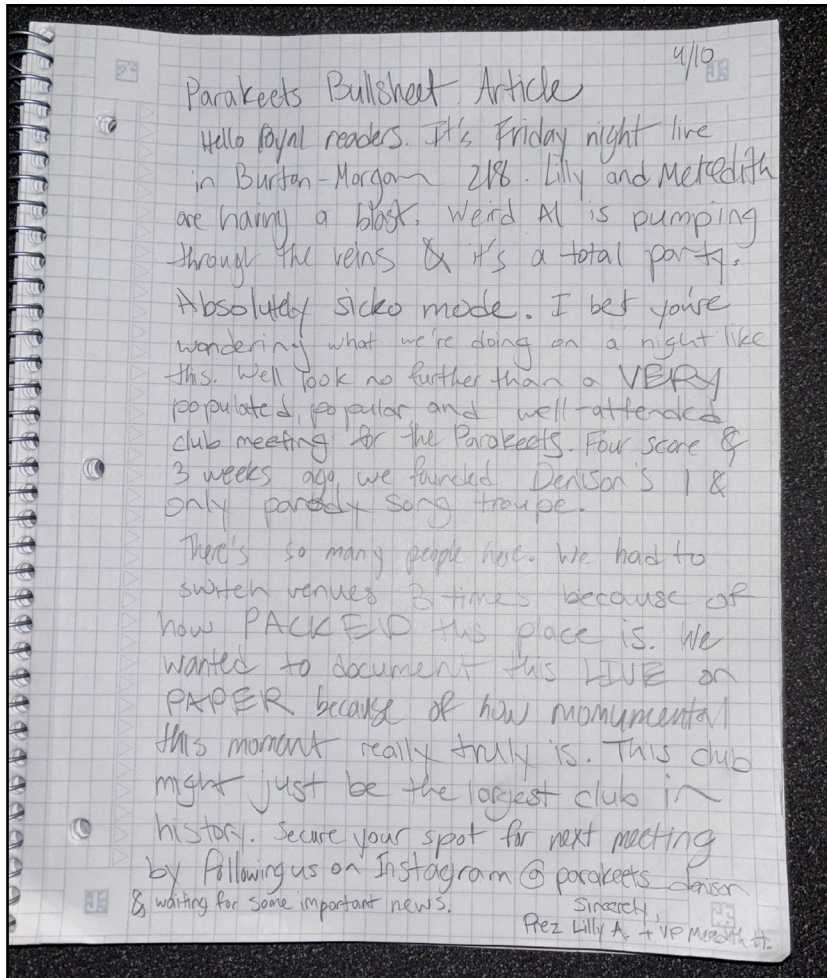

EXCLUSIVE BEHIND THE SCENES LOOK AT DENISON'S ONE AND ONLY PARODY SONG TROUPE

Hello loyal readers. It's Friday night LIVE in Burton-Morgan 218. Lilly and Meredith are having a blast. Weird Al is pumping through the veins, and it's a total party. Absolutely sicko mode. I bet you're wondering what we're doing on a night like this. Well, look no further than a VERY populated, popular and well-attended club meeting for The Parakeets. Four score and three weeks ago, we founded Denison's one & only parody song troupe.

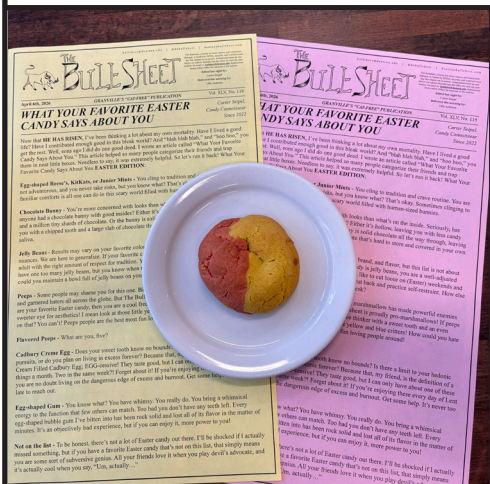

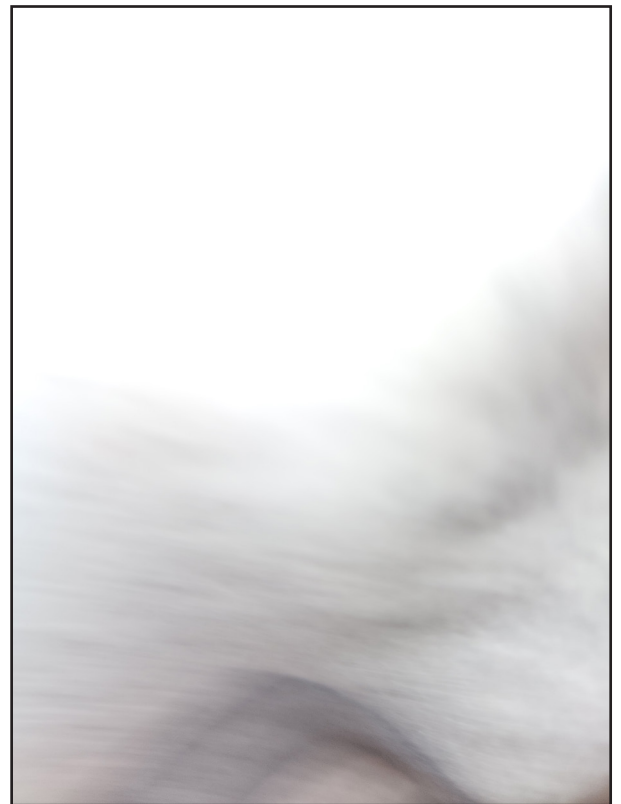

There's so many people here. We had to switch venues 3 times because of how PACKED this place is. We wanted to document this LIVE on PAPER because of how monumental this moment truly is. This club might just be the largest club in history. Secure your spot for next meeting by following us on Instagram @parakeets_denison & waiting for some important news.

Sincerely,
Prez Lilly and VP Meredith

Transcription of our live records

Blurry photo of the crowd.
It was sooooo crowded omg
I could barely take a picture.
It was like Astroworld in there

Staff "Knock Knock" Box

- Carter "Banana" Seipel, Managing Editor
- Christine "Banana" Trueh, Head Writer
- Leah "Banana" Jackson, Senior Editor
- Lindsey "Banana" George, Sophomore Editor
- William "Banana" Eddleman, Sophomore Editor
- Lucy "Banana" Dale, Foreign Correspondant
- Elliot "Banana" Harpham, Senior Writer
- Eleanor "Banana" Mason, Foreign Correspondant
- Lucy "Banana" Hollingsworth-Hays, Sophomore Writer
- Anna "Banana" Crum, Sophomore Writer
- Lilly "Banana" Andrews, Freshman Writer
- Lily "Banana" Reaser, Freshman Writer
- Aiyana "Banana" Harrison, Freshman Writer
- Meredith "Still Banana" Havre, Freshman Writer

