Ken Jennings Says:

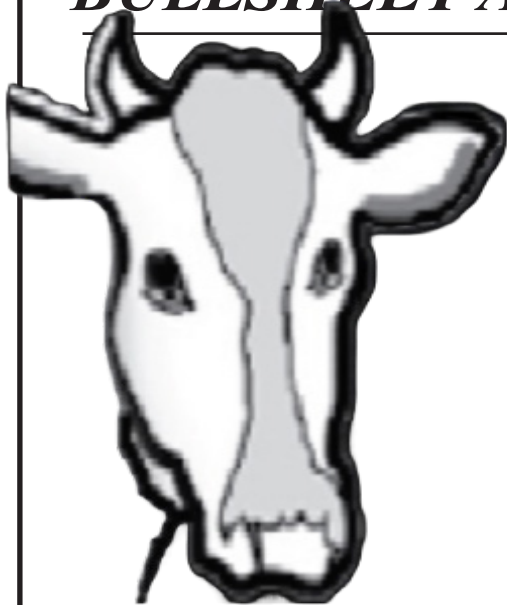

Come to the Bandersnatch today at 9:30pm! There will be games, prizes, laughs! Watch the first-ever bullsheet game show! Hosted by the staff!

Steve Harvey Says:

Pull up, or I'll be under your bed tonight.

PragərU

The Onion isn't the only famous satirical newspaper buying up right-wing media. There's a new player in town. Remember Prager "University," every racist middle schooler's favorite YouTube channel? Remember how these videos are now being shown in classrooms in ass-backward states? Well, they're about to take a big turn for the better! The Bullsheet will be henceforth in complete control of all PragerU media. First thing we did, we locked Dennis Prager in a cage. Don't worry, he has plenty of food and water, and we periodically give him cigars for enrichment.

Next order of business: new videos! We're keeping the original mission going, and are going to be talking about hard-hitting issues and making crappy animations. We're very aware that some young children are now required to watch these videos in schools, so we will be keeping that in mind for our new topics. Denison-specific humor and inside jokes will abound, much like The Bullsheet itself. But the real focus: communist propaganda.

That's right, with Comrade Prager's "retirement," PragerU is free to advocate for the proleteriat! We're still "owning the libs," as is central to PragerU. We're just approaching it from the other direction now. We're going to really stick it to the bourgewaszee, as soon as we learn how to spell burjwassee! More than that, of course, we will be doing our duty in contributing to leftist infighting. Because if the far right and the far left have one thing in common, it's that we both hate the far left with passion. We'll do our part in making sure that the ideaology of teenagers on BlueSky is pure enough for the revolution to begin.

Submit video ideas to bullsheet@denison.edu! You have nothing to lose but your chains!
