

April 27th, 2026

GRANVILLE'S "MOST SENTIMENTAL" PUBLICATION

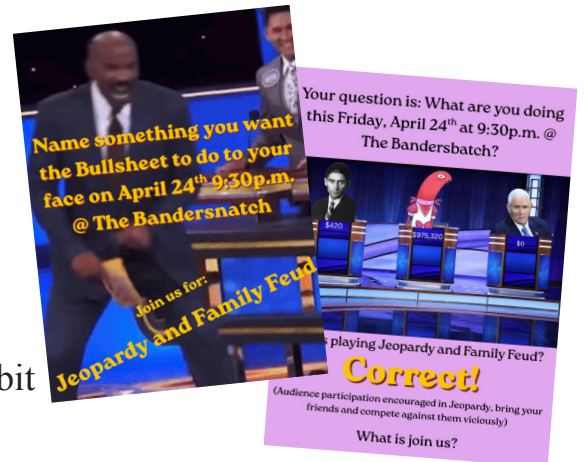

Vol. XLV, No. 134

THE BULLSHEET GAME SHOW NIGHT BY THE NUMBERS

- 41 Survey answers
- 6 Fake Mustaches
- 9 Rotating hosts
- 3 Rounds of Family Feud
- 1 Family who bailed last minute
- 0 Extra funding
- 6 Unique prizes
- 3 Patriotic pairs of sunglasses
- 2 Survey answers from Bullsheet alums
- 100 Bees answered 100 times
- 2 Mentions of Ringo Starr

- 24 Audience members who knew wayyy more about Family Feud than The Bullsheet Staff ever will
- 30 Limes for all the participants who got their time in the lime light
- 1 Participant who actually knew what the hell the Kibler Report was
- 7 Frustrated participants
- 30 Second parody song from The Parakeets
- 5 Life lessons from the Women's Rugby team
- 5 Lies from the Denisonian staff
- 5 Ties on The Bullsheet staff
- 1 Tie in Jeopardy
- 12 Students with no hope, joy, whimsy or will to live
- 1 Viral clip thanks to Carter's iconic "What's your major" bit
- 17 People cheering for "A woman's right to exist"

"It went as good as any Bullsheet event was ever going to go," said Managing Editor, Carter Seipel seconds before stepping on Denison's cursed seal in an effort to prove that The Bullsheet mattered and that the campus rumour was all a hoax. "What could go wrong?!"

CARTER SEIPEL, DEAD AT 22

Carter Seipel passed away peacefully after being crushed by a falling piano.

Known for writing screenplays, performing stand up, and for never once going a week without submitting an article, listicle, or some convoluted story to The Bullsheet. Carter is leaving behind a lifetime of creative work and passion projects. Will he be remembered for any of this in 100 years? Hell no! But we admire his efforts to provide us all with a little bit of levity during his brief time on this Earth.

He is survived by his ex-wife, who will inherit all rights to The Bullsheet.

